Rating Rationale - for the Rating Unit Members

The Issuer Credit Ratings and Financial Strength Ratings of the member operating companies of the rating unit are determined in accordance with Best's building block rating methodology as applied to the consolidated group's financial statements, and the supporting analytics and results are described in the following sections of this report.

Balance Sheet Strength: Strongest

- The Transatlantic Holdings, Inc., rating unit (TransRe) maintains the strongest level of risk-adjusted capitalization at the 99.6% VaR, as measured by Best's Capital Adequacy Ratio (BCAR).
- Financial leverage metrics remain low; coverage metrics have historically been strong, and TransRe has favorable quality capital and financial flexibility.
- TransRe's overall loss reserve development has been favorable with the notable exception of adverse development on U.S. casualty business, which remains vulnerable to industry trends including social inflation.
- TransRe has a relatively low dependence on external reinsurance; however, the group does benefit from significant internal reinsurance support from other Berkshire Hathaway affiliates.
- TransRe also benefits from being part of the Berkshire Hathaway organization, which provides stability and additional financial flexibility; Berkshire manages TransRe's investment portfolio, allowing TransRe to focus on underwriting.

Operating Performance: Adequate

- TransRe's operating performance is consistent and stable, with overall return metrics largely in line with its peer group.
- The group has generated underwriting profits in 2024, 2023, 2022 and 2021, following several consecutive years of modest underwriting losses. It has generated consistent operating profits (excluding realized and unrealized investment losses) due to steady net investment income.
- Underwriting performance has varied moderately by year, according to catastrophe activity. It has been consistent, as appropriate for a well-diversified reinsurer.

Business Profile: Very Favorable

- TransRe maintains a highly diversified book of property and casualty business with a strong geographic spread of risk, and it is consistently ranked among the largest global non-life reinsurers as measured by gross written premiums.
- The group is the lead or the co-lead on more than half of its treaty business and maintains strong, longstanding relationships with brokers and clients.
- TransRe also earns fee income through the management of third-party capital vehicles, such as ILS partnerships and sidecars.
- Growing use of AI initiatives to enhance analysis of its business portfolio, customer service and risk control.

Enterprise Risk Management: Appropriate

- TransRe's group risk management framework is embedded across the organization and fully integrated into the group's management and planning.
- Risk management capabilities are in line with TransRe's risk profile with well-defined risk ownership and responsibilities.
- Relatively lean legal entity and organizational structure improves efficiencies, transparency and accountability.
- TransRe is included in Alleghany's ORSA and additionally prepares several international ORSAs.

Rating Lift/Drag

- TransRe is a leading member, in addition to NICO, of Berkshire Hathaway Inc.'s insurance operations.
- TransRe remains key to the insurance segment within Berkshire Hathaway given the product and geographic diversification as well as the enormous amount of "float" it has generated.
- TransRe receives implicit as well as explicit support from NICO.

Outlook

- The stable rating outlooks reflect AM Best's expectation that TransRe will continue to receive explicit and implicit support from NICO and that TransRe will continue to maintain overall balance sheet strength supportive of the strongest assessment, while continuing to generate adequate operating results.

Rating Drivers

- Factors that could potentially lead to negative rating actions would include the following:
 - - outsized catastrophic or investment losses or capital management actions leading to a material decline in risk-adjusted capitalization;
 - - material adverse loss reserve development;
 - - material reduction in implicit or explicit support provided by TransRe's ultimate parent, Berkshire Hathaway.
- While unlikely, a sustained period during which operating performance exceeds that of peers with below peer volatility could lead to an upgrade of the ratings.

Rating Rationale - for the Holding Company

The rating of the holding company is determined by reference to the Issuer Credit Rating (ICR) of the operating insurance company members of the associated rating unit National Indemnity Group AMB# 004917. It reflects consideration of holding company sources and uses of cash, the competing demands placed upon holding company resources and normal subordination of holding company creditors to claims of the policyholders of the operating insurance companies. In general, therefore, the holding company's Issuer Credit Rating is notched from those assigned to the operating companies of the rating unit.

Credit Analysis

Balance Sheet Strength

TransRe's risk-adjusted capitalization measured by the BCAR scores have been consistently indicative of the Strongest Balance Sheet Strength assessment. AM Best expects that this will remain the case under Berkshire's ownership. TransRe's balance sheet also benefits from the vast potential liquidity and financial flexibility that Berkshire Hathaway provides to each of its (re)insurance subsidiaries. Effective January 1, 2023, TransRe entered into a 50% QS reinsurance contract and 50% LPT with Berkshire affiliate National Indemnity Company.

Capitalization

Shareholders' equity rose by $320 million in 2024 to $5.1 billion, reflecting $561 million of net earnings and $250 million of common dividends paid in the period. AM Best expects that TransRe will pay occasional dividends to its parent, while maintaining capitalization at levels supportive of its overall strongest balance sheet strength assessment.

Prior to the Berkshire acquisition, NPW leverage typically ranged between 0.8-1.2 but decreased in 2023 to below 0.5, due to the 50% QS. Net reserve leverage had been trending lower prior to the acquisition and improved dramatically at year end 2023, reflective of the 50% QS and 50% LPT put in place effective 1/1/23. At the end of 2024, leverage measured by NPW-to-equity was at 0.6x, which is still considered low.

Asset Liability Management - Investments

At this point, TransRe's investment portfolio is extremely conservative, primarily invested in cash and short term securities, with a smaller position in highly rated fixed income securities and a modest allocation to equities. Following the Berkshire acquisition, TransRe sold most of its equity portfolio. Over time, AM Best expects that the company will allocate more into equities in accordance with Berkshire's investment philosophy.

Reserve Adequacy

TransRe has produced net favorable reserve development for more than 15 years on both an accident and calendar year basis. TransRe has a long operating history in reinsurance and therefore has had some exposure to asbestos and environmental (A&E) liabilities although TransRe entry into the casualty market was in the late 1970's and its heavier property orientation at the time reduced its exposure to these problematic liabilities. In December of 2015 TransRe entered into a commutation and release agreement with an American International Group subsidiary and National Indemnity that pertained to A&E liabilities for accident years 1986 and prior. As noted above, following the acquisition of TransRe's former ultimate parent Alleghany Corp. by Berkshire Hathaway, a loss portfolio transfer was put in place, under which a material portion of TransRe's U.S. loss reserves were assumed by NICO.

In 2024, unfavorable prior year reserve development from Casualty lines of business were more than offset by favorable development coming from Property lines, leading to an overall net favorable prior year reserve development.

Holding Company Assessment

TransRe maintains low financial leverage metrics at the Transatlantic Holdings, Inc. level, with just $350M of senior notes (due 2039, with an 8% coupon). Coverage has typically been more than sufficient as the interest expense is relatively small when compared to TransRe's earnings capabilities.

Operating Performance

TransRe's operating performance is consistent and stable, with overall return metrics largely in line with its peer group, including a five year average combined ratio of 97.7% and average ROE of 3.8%. The group has generated a modest underwriting loss in one of the past five years, but has generated underwriting profits in each of the past four full calendar years, and remained consistently profitable (excluding realized and unrealized capital losses), due to steady net investment income. Underwriting performance has varied moderately each year, depending on catastrophe activity, but has been consistent, as would be expected of company that is well diversified by line of business. The company's expense ratio resumed its favorable trajectory in 2023, after ticking up in 2022 due to a higher commission expense ratio and lack of premium growth following cancellation of TransRe's participation on a large whole account QS.

TransRe produced net income of $561 million in 2024, with $208 million of underwriting income and $592 million of net investment income. Gross written premiums increased by 5.9% to $6.3 billion, and net written premiums jumped 47.2% to $3.1 billion (+6.2% excluding NICO QS). In 2024, TransRe's combined ratio increased to 93.2% from 90.4% in 2023, reflecting the beginning of rates softening coupled with an active cat year, with 8 events causing losses which added 3.9pp in the combined ratio in the year.

TransRe's underwriting performance continues to benefit from an overall supportive rate environment and terms and conditions in many key business lines, as well as its prudent approach to cycle management.

Business Profile

TransRe offers capacity for treaty and facultative business, both directly and through reinsurance intermediaries. The company ranks as one of the leading global professional reinsurers based on gross premiums written. The group's business emphasis focuses on the reinsurance of more complex risks, requiring a high degree of underwriting, actuarial and claims expertise. Business risks include general liability which includes specialty risks, auto liability, medical malpractice, homeowners, fire, allied lines, inland marine, ocean marine, aviation, accident and health, surety and credit. A substantial portion of the business that TransRe writes requires a high level of expertise to properly evaluate these complex risks.

Business is derived from both domestic and foreign sources. TransRe's home office is in New York City and the company is licensed or can serve as a reinsurer in 50 states and the District of Columbia in the United States and in Puerto Rico and Guam. In addition, the company has numerous licenses and is registered or authorized to operate in various international jurisdictions throughout the world. More than half of TransRe's business is underwritten in the U.S.

TransRe writes a significant amount of its total net premiums written outside of the United States with business substantially written on a treaty basis. Treaty business is split between pro-rata and excess of loss placements and more heavily weighted towards pro-rata. For the group as a whole, the split between casualty and property is approximately 70% and 30%, respectively. Although casualty business makes up the majority of the company's book, TransRe is also recognized as a leading catastrophe excess-of-loss writer.

TransRe's customer base is comprised of large national accounts, smaller regional insurers and highly focused specialized underwriters. International business has approximated a third of the group's net premiums written in recent years spurred by the expansion of its global facilities in new and existing markets. Additionally, TransRe continues to derive benefits from the development of new products and coverages.

Enterprise Risk Management

TransRe maintains a formal enterprise risk management framework to identify, assess, quantify and mitigate risks. This framework is integrated into day-to-day operations as well as part of the risk appetite planning process and maintaining a comprehensive risk register. As part of this process, the underwriting risk profile is determined and delegated to underwriters according to class of business, risk limits, program limits and premium limits. The monitoring of underwriting and claims performance takes various forms including regular qualitative reviews of underwriting files and internal audit reviews.

TransRe strives to clearly define its risk appetite and risk tolerances. The group's proprietary risk management and catastrophe pricing platform allows TransRe to access and process underwriting, actuarial, catastrophe modeling and capital management data in real time to ensure decision makers are equipped with the most relevant and up-to-date information and are operating within stated guidelines. The system also aggregates exposures which are analyzed through the company's economic capital model and allows management to assess specific scenarios for potential loss events that focus on cross class aggregations and correlations. The model is also used to analyze natural catastrophe scenarios. Exposures are also assessed through the lens of the wider Alleghany and Berkshire organization.

TransRe is continually engaged in reviewing and enhancing its enterprise risk management framework and economic capital model to assess inherent risks, risk appetite and optimal risk adjusted profile.

Reinsurance Summary

TransRe is principally a seller of reinsurance. TransRe historically purchased a fairly modest amount of property catastrophe loss reinsurance protection, but the amount of external reinsurance protection purchased has been reduced following the Berkshire acquisition. Average gross lines and net retention on risks assumed historically have been smaller than the maximums permissible under the company's underwriting guidelines. In addition, these guidelines may be changed and limited exceptions are made from time to time.

Following the completion of the acquisition of TransRe's parent Alleghany Corp. by Berkshire Hathaway, a whole account quota share reinsurance agreement was put in place, under which TransRe cedes a material portion of its writings to National Indemnity, another Berkshire Hathaway subsidiary.

Environmental, Social & Governance

AM Best considers TransRe's exposure to material environmental, social and corporate governance (ESG) risks to be moderate. The company operates in an environment where its underwriting activities have manageable exposure to climate risk, and its profile on underwriting and investment are not exposed to so-called toxic assets and industries. The company operates in line with market peers, and at present ESG factors are unlikely to impact the credit quality of the company over the short-term. There are no significant regulatory requirements relating to ESG, although the company regularly monitors developments to ensure its practices are compliant.

Rating Lift/Drag

The ratings of TransRe are enhanced given its affiliation with National Indemnity Company and Berkshire Hathaway. In addition, there is explicit support in the forms of a quota share and loss portfolio transfer.
